STATEMENT:

Cherie and I grew up, graduated University and raised our family in Fairbanks. I've trucked your fuel, helped keep your lights on 24X7 as President and CEO of GVEA and most recently carried passengers, mail and freight to the Bush as pilot for Tanana Air Service. Community involvement is my way of life. I have served as President of the Board of Regents, the United Way and the Chamber of Commerce and as a trustee of our Community Hospital Foundation, the UA Foundation, the Denali Bank Board and the American Hospital Association Governance Committee. My faith and my family are important in my life; they center me and teach me to listen.

I am conservative and a passionate believer in the bright future of Alaska. I am wary of government, while understanding the greatness of our system. I believe in striving for accountability, honesty and efficiency in government. Alaska is brimming with potential, yet unfortunately our youth must often seek their life's work and happiness elsewhere. At the time of statehood our leaders recognized we Alaskans were few in this vast land. They understood that the cost of government and infrastructure could not be borne on so few backs. Development of Alaska's resources would be key to our prosperity.

I love to hunt and fish. I believe access, multiple use and helping the other guy is at the heart of the Alaskan way. Effective game management is hard science, not politics; and it moves toward plenty, away from scarcity.
